MUSIC LEGEND JUDY COLLINS PLAYS LONE TREE ARTS CENTER
NOVEMBER 30
Intimate Venue Perfect for Collins’ Acoustic Style

LONE TREE, CO – The Lone Tree Arts Center (LTAC) announced late today that folk singer-songwriter and music icon Judy Collins will play an intimate, acoustic concert on Sunday, November 30. The performance, which had been billed as a “save the date” in LTAC’s season announcement, will feature songs from Collins’ five-decades’ long career.

Judy Collins has inspired audiences with sublime vocals, boldly vulnerable songwriting, and personal life triumphs. Her luminescent presence shines brightly as new generations bask in the glow of her iconic 50-album body of work, and heed inspiration from her spiritual discipline to thrive in the music industry for half a century.

The award-winning singer-songwriter is esteemed for her imaginative interpretations of traditional and contemporary folk standards and her own poignant original compositions. Her stunning rendition of Joni Mitchell's “Both Sides Now” from her landmark 1967 album, Wildflowers, has been entered into the Grammy Hall of Fame. Judy’s dreamy and sweetly intimate version of “Send in the Clowns,” a ballad written by Stephen Sondheim for the Broadway musical A Little Night Music, won “Song of the Year” at the 1975 Grammy Awards. She’s garnered several top-ten hits and multiple gold- and platinum-selling albums. Recently, contemporary and classic artists such as Rufus Wainwright, Shawn Colvin, Arlo Guthrie, Joan Baez, and Leonard Cohen honored her legacy with the album Born to the Breed: A Tribute to Judy Collins.

Judy Collins, now 74, is as creatively vigorous as ever, writing, touring worldwide, and nurturing fresh talent. She is a modern day Renaissance woman who is also an accomplished painter, filmmaker, record label head, musical mentor, and an in-demand keynote speaker for mental health and suicide prevention. She continues to create music of hope and healing that lights up the world and speaks to the heart.
