Barb Rogers
“Queen's Bath”
$500

Image Description: Image is of the queen's bath in an ancient moorish Alcazar (palace) in Seville, Spain.

Location of Image: Seville, Spain

Type of Camera and Lens Used: anon EOS Rebel T3i with Cannon EF-S 10-22mm

Camera Settings Used: f/4.5 1/13s ISO 6400

Artist Statement: The eye of the photographer just like the lens of a camera is drawn by the light or more often by its absence. The only important thing is to capture a moment in time and space that speaks to the observer in a way that endures over time. That thing speaks universal truth and captures the essence of a life. It is the eye of the photographer that peels away the surface and allows the observer to see into the soul of a thing, an event, or a being. Nature often is the canvas for such work. By its purity it transcends the ordinary and transports the observer in the realm of the divine. So too, man-made structures capture the hopes and dreams of their creators and thereby solidify passions and aspirations. Without light the photographer is blind. Without the photographer the world is blind.

Website/Social Media Accounts: N/A